

Ashton Bentley United States launch at Infocomm 2013

Following on from a very successful European launch earlier this year at ISE2013, Ashton Bentley are excited to announce we will be attending the hugely anticipated Infocomm 2013 in Orlando, Florida.

Ashton Bentley will partner with Electrosonic Inc. and showcase the Media Connect on their booth 3021.

The Media Connect is a complete Audio Visual collaboration system that is VC Ready (just add your chosen Codec) complete with 55" HD LED Display, signal management, dual PC Input/Switching, control system and IP remote management tools that is supplied with an enclosed stylish chassis and all cables/connectors pre-assembled ready to be deployed in minutes. No tools or skills required.

The attached ergonomic table, with flush table box housing connections and microphone, has been carefully designed to seat three people to be on camera for an immersive conference or seat five for a meeting/presentation.

Just one of the complete environments from the Ashton Bentley range that offer fully integrated AV solutions for meetings, presentations and Videoconferencing.

Electrosonic (www.electrosonic.com) were one of the first systems integrators in the UK to resell Ashton Bentley, and are now the first to take the products to the North America market through their network of offices across the US.
